

2018 Winter Travel League - Week # 10

Just 25 shooters from the Winter Travel League posted scores this morning at the Olean Rod & Gun Club as most had their targets in for the year. Kurt Ireland and crew did a good job with the shoot. It was cold and extremely sunny with temperatures in the twenties and there wasn't much wind.

Most of the shooters only had to shoot 50 targets and Kody Beil of Cuba led the scoring with his 46 x50. Jake Bell of Eldred, Addison Scutt of Olean, Colton Gibbons of Portville, and John Eberle of West Clarksville all broke 45 to lead those shooting 50 targets. Bell again had the only perfect score of 25-straight this week, but fell short of winning the Winter Travel League High-Gun award by just one target to Jim Green of Shinglehouse...(I've been there Jake). Between the bright sun from the south and the snow on the ground in front of the #1 trap house, the visibility was pretty bad. Congrats to both those guys for the battle they waged all season long. Shane Karnuth missed the Green Bird. John Eberle won the 50/50 drawing netting $11.

Shooters are now divided into the three classes based on their season-long averages. The 50-bird trophy shoot, steak dinner, and awards ceremony will be held next Sunday, March 25th at the Portville Conservation Club, the league's host this year, starting at 9:30 am. You had to shoot the entire 500 targets to be eligible to compete in the 50-bird trophy shoot, so 49 league shooters are now eligible to compete next week for trophies. Whether you completed the entire 500-bird league or not though, you'll still get a steak dinner at the banquet for your $15 league fee.

See you next Sunday morning at the PCC...
